"No other venue in the country can create the same excitement, buzz and atmosphere as the Business Design Centre.

The management team have a real passion for the building and the events they host. The Business Design Centre is unique."

Tim Etchells, Managing Director, Single Market Events

Welcome

From our Chief Executive

52 Upper Street, London, NI 0QH Tel. +44 (0)20 7359 3535 www.businessdesigncentre.co.uk

The Business Design Centre is London's most stylish venue. The venue offers organisers one of the most spectacular venues in the UK, combining the architectural beauty of the former Royal Agricultural Hall with contemporary design. Today we attract over half a million visitors every year.

Every event held at the Business Design Centre is completely unique – but every event organiser can rely on one thing: a level of personal service second to none

The venue boasts 6000m2 of unimpeded event space, flexible conference facilities and excellent transport links. There is also a car park and Hilton hotel onsite. The BDC is the ideal London venue for any event.

I was proud to announce recently that the BDC had become the UK's first CarbonNeutral® venue. For several years we have strived to reduce our environmental impact through a series of internal initiatives. Due to the inherent operation of our business we realised that it was not possible to decrease our carbon footprint to zero through reduction and conservation alone and with this in mind we decided to support our reduction limitations with an offset programme in partnership with The Carbon Neutral Company.

I hope you enjoy your time at the BDC. Please contact me if you have any feedback.

History

Our History, Our Vision... Your Future

In 1861 the first foundation stones of The Agricultural Hall were laid. At a cost of £50,000 the architect Frederick Peck created an imposingly large enclosed space, the clear span of which was greater than both its contemporaries at the time, Crystal Palace and Alexandra Palace. In 1885 following years of Royal patronage, the name was changed to The Royal Agricultural Hall, though to locals it has long been known as 'the Aggie'.

Once the Hall had opened there began a programme of events which, until the outbreak of World War II, included almost every conceivable type of exhibition: bakery & confectionary, drapery, brewing, laundry, shoe & leather, cycle, motor, furniture, dairy, grocery, Crufts and the horse shows, as well as revivalist meetings, circuses and the World's Fair.

The years went on and The Aggie's visitors began to read like a Who's Who of celebrated London, including Winston Churchill, William Gladstone and Edward VIII to name a few. With the outbreak of World War II the Government requisitioned the building, and in 1943 The Inland and Foreign Parcels Office was moved to the Hall, this remained until 1971 after which the building remained derelict for many years.

In 1981 Sam Morris, Chairman of CIL fell in love with the Aggie, complete with its disrepair and forest of undergrowth, and formulated a tender for the site based on the American trade mart concept which he won. In 1986 after a £12m investment the building was restored and opened as Business Design Centre you see today

Environmental Policies

The Business Design Centre, has recently become the UK's first CarbonNeutral® exhibition and conference centre.

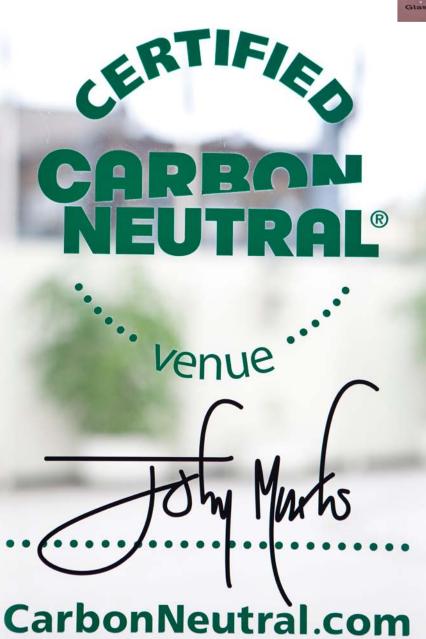

We have always been aware of its environmental responsibility and we are extremely proud of the award-winning 'green' initiatives we have implemented over the past years. Due to the inherent operation of our business we realise that it is not possible to decrease our carbon footprint to zero through reduction and conservation alone and with this in mind we have decided to support our reduction limitations with an offset programme.

Our focus for the future will continue to be on energy efficiency and internal emission reductions. By achieving the first CarbonNeutral® venue accreditation in the UK we are ideally positioned to meet organisers' requirements for a green and sustainable event space in the UK.

For further information on the BDC's 'green' credentials please visit www.businessdesigncentre. co.uk/carbonneutral

Initiatives we have invested in:

- Invested in a scheme whereby we purchase all our energy from renewable resources
- Installed a £10,000 recycling centre in the loading bay.
- Recycle 60% of all skip waste approximately 170 tons this year
- Installed electric car charging points in the car part
- Have installed motion sensors on lights in all toilets & communal areas
- Refurbished the Auditorium with a new energy efficient air conditioning system
- Invested in low-wattage bulbs for all exhibition stands
- Recycling bins for visitors
- Fitted energy efficient light bulbs in our Conference Centre

"We were very impressed with the BDC's clear focus on environmental responsibility and the extra steps that they have made to become the UK's first Carbon Neutral Venue. This is something that has impressed us immensely and a factor that we take extremely seriously when selecting a venue. It is clear that they have become a market leader in their sustainability approach and are now striving forward and leading the way in the industry."

Mark Roddy Head of Event Management. GovNet Events

Our Conference Centre

The Business Design Centre is London's most unique and flexible venue.

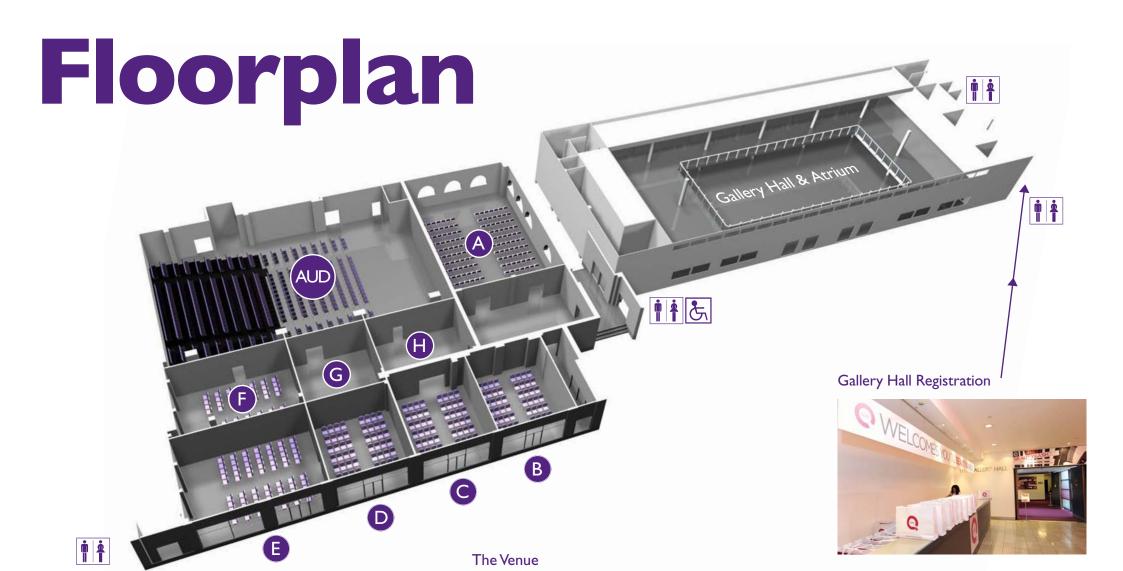

The Business Design Centre is London's most exciting conference venues. In addition to our main Mezzanine, Gallery Hall and impressive main Auditorium, we also have a further 7 adjacent rooms enabling us to accommodate from 5 to 2,500 delegates. The overwhelming feeling one gets from the venue is of flexibility.

An experienced in house Project Manager is appointed to oversee each and every event, whether it's a conference, fashion show, product launch, banquet or meeting. Coupled with in-house caterers, The Good Eating Company and audio-visual and production company AVC Productions, each event can expect a level of service second to none. With a programme of continuous improvement to the facility, this ensures our facilities and fabric of the building remains of the highest standard.

"The atmosphere and feel from the minute that you walk in. It has that "wow" factor. Given that the event is all about innovation we really wanted to have that buzz and you could feel it the minute you walked in"

We have recently completed a major investment and upgrade to our internet and wireless system which we believe makes us one of the leading UK venues in terms of infrastructure and the capacity on offer to our organisers. Our access is fed by a massive IGb fibre optic pipe provided by Virgin Media and is distributed through our purpose built Cisco network based on the 802.11 standard with a wireless transmission of up to 300Mbps.

This network is made up of over 50 Access Points which can now accommodate an impressive 500 simultaneous devices to log on in both the Gallery Hall & Auditorium using a secure password which can be set as anything you wish (so perhaps an event sponsor or partner!?)

In addition to our Wi-Fi access, we can also offer wired internet connections over our Category 5e Network cabling infrastructure for up to 20MB ideal for conference streaming or hi demand exhibitors.

Complimentary Wi-Fi Access: We now offer completely free Wi-Fi available to all visitors at the Business Design Centre. This is open to all so restricted connectivity is available free of charge for every delegate. Of course, we can still arrange unrestricted, secure access for people wanting a higher bandwidth.

Actions on the complimentary service will be restricted to general activities such as checking emails. For streaming videos and delegates/exhibitors requiring a higher rate connection we advise opting for the password protected Wi-Fi coverage as detailed above. This will allow a higher speed uncontested connection and you can be safe in the knowledge that your delegates/visitors will be receiving a dedicated service.
